This week in Year 2

Mad about maps!

This week Year 2 have been creating maps of all shapes and sizes, and starting to create abstract art based on the shapes and colours they can see within those maps. They are really enjoying exploring layering of different textures and colours and how this affects the final outcome of the art.

In maths, year two have been learning about dividing and multiplying by 2, which can be very tricky! We have worked as a team using manipulatives in order to further develop our understanding of division and multiplication.

This week in Year 3

Year 3 Scientists- This week we have been learning about friction and we really enjoyed comparing distance that a car travelled when it was pushed down ramps of different textures. We collaborated, measured and discussed our results.

This week in Year 3

Year 3 the artists. This week we have learned all about tone and shading. We have explored different pencil hardness and how to make our pencils darker or lighter depending on our grip and intensity. We also had a look at the famous artist Degas and his work on tone.
